Whilst some of the young people use substances themselves (and some do not), this is not the focus of our work with them. This differentiates Routes from so many other programmes in the field of 'young people, alcohol and drugs', where the focus is almost automatically on young people's own substance use.

Best Way Community Development	Best Way Community Development (BWCD), a charity in Motherwell, has been addressing the challenges faced by African families in North Lanarkshire, particularly related to drug use. The diverse demographic, prevalence of substances and cultural barriers contribute to the underutilization of existing services. Collaborating with the Scottish Drugs Forum has enabled specialized training to offer targeted support. Feedback indicates positive community impact, but the stigma, language barriers and lack of awareness persist. Ombeni Ruhanduka Project Manager 07716287834 ombeni@bestwaycd.org Bestway Community Development, Jerviston Community Centre, Coalhall Avenue, Motherwell, ML1 4BU. North Lanarkshire Youth Bridges	Youth Bridges provides a service for North Lanarkshire young people under 21 years of age who are remanded in custody or receive a custodial sentence of under four years in HMP Polmont, in order to aid their reintegration and transition back to the community. The work undertaken by Youth Bridges targets the most vulnerable prisoners and works with them to reduce the risk

	factors which could involve them in re-offending and return to custody. No distinction is made between those on remand or serving a custodial sentence and there is no time limit on intervention. The service is voluntary but is intensive and responsive to need, including evening and weekend support when required. Workers take an assertive outreach approach, which recognises the right of young people to decline the service but also strongly promotes the benefits of intensive support to divert young people to a more positive lifestyle. A holistic, person centred approach ensures that individualised plans focus on areas of vulnerability and strong links are in place with other organisations including housing, health and addiction, employability, education/ training providers and other relevant support services. Steven Clemenson, Senior Social Worker – Intensive Services, Education & Families T: 01236 638500 M: 07951410454 E: clemensons@northlan.gov.uk

Substance Misuse Nurse Liaison (SMNL)	This service provides information, advice, care and treatment for individuals with drug and alcohol problems within the acute hospital setting. This service operates from accident and emergency departments at Monklands, Wishaw and Hairmyres hospitals. The service is run by two nurses at each hospital.

	Aims of the service The wider aims are to improve access to addiction services for people who misuse substances, through onward referral to services like the North Lanarkshire Integrated Addiction Service and other drug and alcohol services, including liaising with other agencies to provide seamless transfer to community care. What is provided by the service? The substance misuse nurses (SMN) provide a physical presence in the hospital environment, supporting patients, families and staff when alcohol or drug misuse is together with altered health status. Patients are referred to this service as inpatients from hospital wards, accident and emergency or hospital clinics as outpatients. The three hospital sites are Hairmyres, Monklands and Wishaw. The local aims of the service are the safe, appropriate and effective management of all patients whose misuse of alcohol or drugs is disclosed or discovered during assessment or treatment without exception, prejudice or judgement and onward referral for community support and care. For more information, contact your local addiction recovery team.
